- Austria 83.871 km²
- Approx. 8,5 Mill. inhabitants
- Federation of 9 provinces/regions (Bundesländer)
- 2,102 municipalities in total
- Vienna: special status in constitution as region (Bundesland) and municipality
9 regions/provinces
(Bundesländer)
80 districts – administrative units in Austria („politische Bezirke“)
2.102 Austrian Local Governments
Competences on federal (Bund), regional (Länder), local (Gemeinden) level

• competences are regulated by constitution
• legislative competence lies with federal and regional level
• “General Competence Clause”: areas not included in constitution may be regulated by regions
• each region is responsible for execution and implementation of federal law
• Local self-government is cornerstone in constitution
Structure of Local Authorities

• Population: less than 100 and more than 1,80 Mio. (Vienna)

• Nearly half of 2,102 municipalities have between 1,000 and 2,500 inhabitants; 84% between 500 and 5,000

• 73 municipalities have more than 10,000 inhabitants, from these 7 have more than 50,000;

• 2nd largest city: Graz, Styria (230,000)
Areas of Municipal Autonomy

important competences

• housing
• Managing administration
• supervisory authority (active in case of unlawful activities of a municipality)
• Activities in own sphere of operation (e.g. Appointment of municipal authority and employees, administration of own traffic space, market authority, building authority and local spatial planning)
• Economic activities (e.g. waste, water and waste water, energy, municipal housing, leisure facilities, etc.) – Services of General (Economic) Interests
Services of General Interest

- Services of general interest: to guarantee high quality services at affordable prices
- in EC Treaties since 1957: definition as special “Public Service Obligations” (PSO), which every MS will define according to history, tradition and national institutions of its own; competition law is not applicable

Services of General Economic Interest

- any activity consisting in offering goods and services on a given market

Services of General Non-Economic Interest

- financed mainly out of public funds
- activities provided directly by the „State“ (e.g. national educational system)
Services of General Economic Interest

- defined and regulated by specific common rules (internal market regulations), e.g. Electric Energy, Mail Service, Telecommunication fall under the special regulations of the EC

- without definition and regulation by common law – Principle of subsidiarity; MS define these services and lay down how these services are provided (e.g. water disposal, water supply, public/social services, waste management).
Historical Concepts

„Daseinsvorsorge“ („life provision“): concept since 1938 in Germany and Austria; responsibility for ones life should not rest with a single person but with political authorities („birth to grave“)

„Service Publique“: concept since end of 19th century in France; „Service Publique“ has to satisfy those needs of general public that are of general economic interest; definition of „general interest“ remained vague.

„Public Utility Concept“: mainly anglo-saxon tradition; singles out economic areas of public interest of which state should keep control; contrary to French system, anglo-saxon concept provides only control of private activities within the sector but does not see an obligation to make utilities available to general public.
Current Situation in Austria 1

- Local governments organise, finance and provide essential services for their citizens and businesses.

- Different modes of service delivery

  - directly
  - through contracts with private sector
  - through variations of PPP
Current Situation in Austria 2

-intent of European Commission:

- to create a common market; e.g. market competition for production & provision of all services (also SG(E)I)

- Since 1990s clash in SG(E)I field between local authorities and liberalisation attempts by WTO & EU (with the assistance of MS)
“Line of defence”

CEMR Charter on Local and Regional Services of General Interest

a.) Better balance between private and public sector - local and regional governments have an essential role to play.

b.) includes decision how to define and evaluate public services,

c.) „horizontal“ European law on SG(E)I
